New Tricks of Fraud by Sending Notices in the Name of AEA

Do not click on the notice sent in LINE messages or emails to avoid being scammed

The Administrative Enforcement Agency of the Ministry of Justice (AEA) stated that it has recently received several calls from the general public and company accounting staff reporting that they have received notices on their personal LINE and company emails issued in the name of the "Administrative Enforcement Agency of the Ministry of Justice" for administrative enforcement of "tax-related" cases, which required them to click to download details of fines, etc. AEA hereby solemnly declares that these LINE messages and emails are fraudulent messages impersonating AEA, and requires everyone to be careful to verify and avoid being deceived.

AEA emphasizes that itself and its branches will never send messages through email, LINE, or Facebook, etc. to notify obligors to pay, nor will they require remittances through informal channels or private accounts. Anyone receiving any suspicious notice or having any questions can directly call the AEA verification hotline at (02) 2633-1266, or use the official site (<https://www.tpk.moj.gov.tw>), or dial 104, please check the contact information and correct phone number of each branch at the directory inquiries, and then call each branch to confirm whether there are any enforcement cases under process to protect your own rights and interests.

AEA also calls on the general public to raise their awareness of fraud prevention and not to click on links with unknown messages, provide any personal information, or conduct any monetary transactions. If encountering any suspected fraud, please immediately call the National Police Agency's 165 anti-fraud hotline for instructions, or report the case to the local police agency to jointly prevent fraud crimes and protect the safety of your own property.
